Of The Big "Social Sensation" and Scandal at Providence.

Providence, Ky., Sept. 22.—With Ester Morton still at large, two of his victims improving and funeral services for the third conducted Monday, the excitement attending the shooting of the three negroes on Saturday night has subsided. The shooting occurred at a "Jingo" joint just outside of town Saturday night at 10 o'clock, and was the result of Harvey McDowell becoming infatuated with Johanna Morton, Ester Morton's wife.

McDowell had hired an automobile and, in company with Johanna Morton and Louise Crittenden, another negro woman, had gone out for a ride. Morton heard that his wife was out with McDowell and he at once went to meet them. He came upon the three as they were leaving the "Jingo" joint near town and without warning fired three shots at McDowell, all of which took effect in the head, causing death instantly. He then fired two shots one of which struck his wife in the abdomen and the other took effect in Louise Crittenden's wrist.

The murderer then fled and had not been located up to noon today. The dead negro was taken to the morgue and the two negro women were removed to their homes. They were given medical treatment and are getting along as well as could be expected at this time. It is thought that both will recover.

CITIZENS OFFER TO IMPROVE SEBREE LINE

Teams and Wagons Would Be Donated in Hope of Landing B Line Route.

Henderson, Ky., Sept.—A means of improving the proposed Sebree route of the Dixie Bee Line from Anthonston to the Webster county line, a distance of seven miles, has been suggested to the Henderson county fiscal court by Lee Eakins and Dr. A. S. Denton, both large land owners of Robards.

Denton and Eakins have offered the magistrates teams and wagons with which to grade the road to a proper level and haul rock for piking it. They hope to interest other advocates of the Sebree route in the matter and do all the work on the road except furnish the rock. This would put the Sebree route on a par with the road which the Dixon people are preparing to make for their proposed route.

If the proposal of the Robards pair materializes and is accepted it would save the county court about $8,000.

The magistrates will act on the matter at their October meeting.

Wasted No Time.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Sept. 20.—Basil Starks, a business man of McNary county, Tenn., and Miss Iva Geneva Riddell, of Bath county, were quietly married at the bride's home this week. A romantic feature of the marriage was the fact that neither the bride nor groom had seen each other, until five minutes before the ceremony was performed. They formed an acquaintance through a matrimonial agency five years ago and had carried on their courtship by correspondence.

Hazing Suit.

Abraham L. Obenchain, of South Whitley, Ind., whose son was killed in the "tank scrap," is form of hazing, has sued Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., for $25,000 damages.

A. O. STANLEY OPENS CAMPAIGN AT GLASGOW

Six Beeves, Twenty Sheep and Twenty Goats Barbecued, But Are Insufficient.

Glasgow, Ky., Sept. 22.—Headed by A. O. Stanley, gubernatorial nominee, Kentucky democrats opened their campaign here Monday with a monster barbecue. Preparations were made for 10,000 visitors, but the crowd attending exceeded this number by 5,000. Mr. Stanley, who was the principal speaker, lauded the Wilson administration, and gave it as his opinion that Kentucky democrats desired to have the party in the nation renominate the President. The speaker asserted that "everything is rosy for a democratic landslide in Kentucky next November." He replied to the attack made by Edwin P. Morrow, republican nominee for governor, regarding the state of Kentucky's finances, asserting this administration inherited the old debts of the Wilson regime.

Standardizing Dances.

The National Society of Professors of dancing has decided to standardize the dances taught this season. The "professors" have waked up to something the public has known for a long time—that they have been over-doing the "new dance" business and killing the goose that laid the golden eggs.

For a year or two, while the terpsichorean mania was at its height, it seemed that some new dancing evolution was being turned out every two weeks. The "latest step" was the thing, and in a frenzied effort to be up-to-date the faddists flocked to the dancing masters in such throngs that the instructors were soon rolling in wealth. Inspired by their sudden prosperity, they played on the popular dance craze and invented dance after dance, cleverly advertising their wares and fooling the public to top of its bent.

But the public always comes to its senses sooner or later. The dancers couldn't go on forever paying their good money to learn "the latest dance," only to have to turn in and pay a higher price for learning a still later one the next month. Besides, the enormous production of new and varied steps came to make dancing parties scenes of confusion and annoyance instead of simple pleasure. It was found after a while that all the public really cared for in most communities were the waltz and two or three other dances, of which the one-step and fox trot were probably the most popular.

With the restriction of the steps to about half a dozen, thoroughly standardized, the public will be saved from complete revolt and dancing will once more be a simple, sane and wholesome creation.—Owensboro Messenger.

Aeronaut Falls to Death.

Jonesville, Va., September 20.—Ed Wheeler of Adrian, Mich., aeronaut, was killed in a fall from his balloon, while making an ascent at the fair grounds here. Wheeler fell from an open parachute a distance of 900 feet.

GENIUS RECOGNIZED.

"It's a pity that Shakespeare is dead," remarked the old playgoer. "Yes," replied the modern manager. "What a moving picture scenario he could have written."

COLOR OF ONE'S VIEWS.

"Ma, I want to get a new red costume." "Well, you can't. I've joined the Woman's Peace league and we'll have to dress in neutral tints."

THE REASON OF IT.

"How stuck-up all the Cameup family are!" "No wonder. The head of it made his money in a glue factory."

DOUBLE MISHAP.

"Misfortunes never come single." "No, they don't. Here, just because I lost my head the other day my boss cut it off."
